Making Mysuru next Innovation Hub

Run-up event in city for Bengaluru Tech Summit-2019

Rs. 6,000 crore IT exports coming from Mysuru,
says Additional Chief Secretary Dr. E.V. Ramana Reddy

Mysuru, Aug.28 (PM&NNN)- "Mysuru has the potential to become a premier start-up hub in the country as it is well placed in terms of quality and cost of living and is the next preferred destination after Bengaluru," said Dr. E.V. Ramana Reddy, Additional Chief Secretary, Department of Information Technology, Biotechnology and Science & Technology.

He was speaking after inaugurating 'Bengaluru Tech Summit (BTS) 2019 - Mysore Road Show' organised by the Department of IT, BT and S&T with the theme "Mysuru the Next Innovation Hub," at the Radisson Blu Plaza Hotel here this morning and said the city provides access to the best academia, infrastructure, connectivity and the expat community.

"With nearly Rs. 6,000 crore IT exports coming from Mysuru, the Department is mulling strengthening the NAIN (New Age Innovation Network) initiative and will be renaming it as District Innovation Hubs. Managers, who are now re-designated as K-tech District Innovation Associates (K-DIAs), would evangelise and support innovation related programmes at the District Level," he said.

"The K-DIAs shall organise mentoring sessions to students, internship and visits to large companies or incubators where the students can get an exposure to the larger ecosystem. We are also planning to hold BTS like events in cities like Mysuru, Mangaluru and Hubballi-Dharwad next year," he added.

"The fact that two start-ups from Mysuru were finalists for the ELEVATE-2019 programme is in an indication that Mysuru has taken yet another step forward to become a start-up hub," he said.

The Government has a strong emphasis on University engagement which is done through NAIN focusing on tier-2 and tier-3 cities in the State through a network of 30 engineering institutions wherein 293 projects have been funded and over 100 working prototypes have been realised, he said.

Caste Chemistry

Democracy in the country, touted as the largest in the world, appears to be oscillating from order that was in the initial years to disorder after seven-plus decades, going by the media portrayal of the people's representatives elected to various Legislative bodies in successive polls. The renowned academician, a two-time ambassador of the United States of America to India during 1950s, Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith has been quoted saying India's Democracy is a functioning anarchy. One cannot be faulted to place more emphasis on the second term of the diplomat's expression (anarchy), although the set-up appears to be functioning, thanks to the presence of some able elected representatives in the Government at the top, marked by the recently happening sequence in which persons with proven calibre are departing. Not sending representatives to any of the Legislative bodies with the necessary credentials to first debate on issues as befits Democracy cannot be blamed on the electorate at large for the simple reason of persons of straw are the choice of the political parties to contest in the polls.

The think tank that authored the land's Constitution may very well have missed envisioning the shape of things in later years with respect to precisely spelling out the credentials of those aspiring to represent people, except prescribing minimum age and to be of sound mind. Expecting the present crop of vote-mongers to right that wrong amounts to asking for the moon.

Parameters that count first in the choice of candidates don't need to be mentioned explicitly. Two such parameters, namely the dynasty factor and the caste factor run through the fabric of Government-making. After the initial step of winning at the hustings as a horse belonging to the party with majority in the respective house of Legislature, the next step is to be gifted with a berth in the Cabinet. The game of politics picks up there on as vigorous lobbying begins for plum portfolio, only to get busy clamouring for office space, ostensibly complying with vastu. As in the ongoing case of Karnataka Cabinet of Ministers, the fourth step is to again lobby for living quarters as status symbol.

To cut a long story short, the much-avowed federal style of governing the country is virtually killed as all decisions, legitimately within the grasp of the regional leader, the Chief Minister, are to comply with the bosses in the nation's capital, fascinatingly called High Command. Going by media comments, the decisions are conditioned by caste identity of the Ministers. The Chief Minister's tight rope walk is appropriately called social chemistry. Chemists may be gratified at the birth of a new branch of study in their field.

From Indira Gandhi to Smriti Irani to Priyanka Gandhi and Nirmala Sitharaman, India's public figures are seen draping the country's heritage in nine yards, in the form of handloom sarees. The ubiquitous attire has been the traditional garment for the Indian woman of yore, but her modern counterpart has lapped it up to reinforce her personal style statement and work persona like never before. Often, the management boards of leading companies have women wearing only handloom sarees. Pochampally, Mangalagiri Sico, Gadwal, Kuppadam, Kanchipuram and Siddipet Gollabhama sarees... Handloom brings together myths, beliefs, community and identity. Once you are touched by its magic, it is difficult to let go and wear anything else. — Namrata Kohli in Business Standard

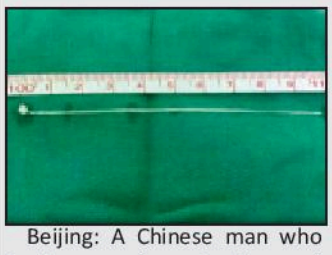
Woman covers town in graffiti to contact mystery man

Melbourne: An Australian woman in Melbourne's Frankston suburb was charged with criminal damage, wilful damage, among others, after covering several public spaces with graffiti messages to a certain 'Chris,' the alleged father of her unborn baby.

Confused residents started posting photos of the bizarre graffiti message to The Frankston Community Noticeboard Facebook page, where they quickly went viral. The same message – Chris u need 2 talk 2 me b4 baby is born, or dont bother after – was photographed on various public spaces and prompted users to ask Chris to call the author before it's too late.

Local authorities learned about the graffiti messages after several residents reported them through an online app. They acted quickly to remove the spray paint, but expressed their wishes that the parties involved "consider more constructive, and less illegal ways of communicating in the future".

Headache caused by worm stuck in brain



Beijing: A Chinese man who had experienced frequent headaches and even seizures over the last 30 years is now able to lead a pain-free life after doctors extracted a 10-cm worm from his brain.

The man, surnamed Zhang, first started experiencing excruciating headaches and seizures in 1989. He was playing cards with friends when his arms and legs started twitching for no reason. He started foaming from the mouth and lost consciousness soon after. His worried family took him to a hospital in Guangzhou where he was diagnosed with epilepsy and prescribed anti-epileptic drugs. Despite taking the drugs regularly over the last 30 years, he still suffered occasional seizures and fainting, as well as frequent headaches.

It wasn't until last month that Zhang learned that his symptoms were actually caused by a worm stuck in his brain.

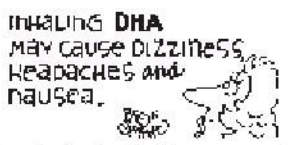
Is it healthy to spray tan?



Spray tanning is in its infancy, so the jury is still out on its safety. Consequently, there is very little research on the safety of spray tanning, and we have yet to know of the full effects of the chemical DHA (Dihydroxyacetone), which causes the skin to darken.

VOICE OF THE READER

Reminiscing the 1962 Rain Havoc in Kodagu

Sir,

We had a property adjacent to Glenlorna Tea Estate in Hudikeri, South Kodagu. In the year 1962, there was torrential rains. Schools and Colleges declared holidays for almost six months. During this time, the rain played havoc and affected our property also very badly.

Just one or two years before this incident occurred, our father B.A. Thimmaiah (Bottangada) had shifted our family from Bengaluru to settle in Mysuru as it was nearer to Kodagu and also for his children to continue their education. He often used to visit our property and had built a house there. A coffee nursery was prepared, pits were dug to plant them and arecanut trees were planted a few years back with pepper climbers on it to climb. Cardamom saplings were also planted.

When the rain started pouring continuously for days together, the water stagnated on the coffee nursery and they were submerged. There was landslide from the hillock which was beside the house, the mud from it floated and covered some of the pits which were dug. So walking around became difficult as the legs got stuck in them.

Since the top soil on the cardamom plants were carried away, the cardamom roots with cardamom were exposed while some were stuck inside the slush. Strange, the monkeys too came in and created menace by pulling the roots, plucking cardamoms, biting and spitting them.

Though it was time for arecanut trees to yield, there was no sign of it. The pepper climbers started falling down. The fence around the property was dismantled. In addition to all these, a portion of the house also collapsed. The rain water entered inside our house and damaged some of the household articles. Luckily all of us were safe.

MCC cancels transfer of 12 layouts from MUDA to its fold

Mysuru, Aug.28 (SBD&US)- Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) at the Council Meeting held at MCC premises here yesterday decided to cancel the process of transferring 12 private layouts from Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) to MCC which was initiated during the period when MUDA Commissioner P.S. Kantharaju was officiating as in-Charge MCC Commissioner.

Announcing the decision at the meeting, Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath said that the topic of transferring the 12 layouts was not tabled before the MCC Council.

She further said that the process of transferring 73 layouts from MUDA to MCC over the last two years would also be scrutinised and any transfer done without the knowledge of the Council would also be cancelled.

She clarified that teaming with the respective Corporator and the Advisory Committee, the basic infrastructure of all the transferred layouts would be scrutinised and further action would be taken.

The question posed by Ward 59 Corporator Sunanda Palanetra seeking the basis for transfer of layouts and details of basic facilities to be provided to a layout before qualifying for a transfer triggered a long discussion at the meeting eventually taking a decision to cancel the recent transfer of layouts. She narrated the pitiable condition of a few layouts in Ward 59 and challenged the contention of MUDA on having provided needed basic infrastructure.

Voicing support, Corporator Shivakumar said that MCC owes Rs.160 crore to contractors and ruled out providing facilities to new layouts. Hence, he urged MCC to provide basic infrastructure to all layouts transferred from MUDA or insist MUDA to bear the needed expenses.

Former Mayor Ayub Khan questioned the rationale behind MCC accepting the new layouts transferred from MUDA knowing well the fund crunch in MCC which raises a doubt over MCC administration itself.

Corporators Prema Shankaregowda and SBM Manju (MUDA Member) questioned whether any layout could be transferred from MUDA to MCC without the knowledge of the Council.

Clarifying the meeting, Zone Assistant Commissioner Shivananda Murthy said that the topic of layout transfer should be tabled before the Council.

He added that the Audit Committee had identified that out of the 73 layouts transferred from MUDA to MCC from 2017 onwards, 12 have skipped the attention of the Council during the tenure of Kantharaju as in-charge MCC Commissioner.

Corporator and BJP leader B.V. Manjunath demanded the cancellation of the process of transfer of the said 12 layouts and insisted on constituting a Committee to scrutinise the facilities provided at all the transferred layouts.

Corporator Ramesh opined that if the process of transfer of the said 12 layouts, all in NR constituency, is cancelled, the same should be applicable to transferred layouts in KR and Chamaraja Constituencies.

Bowing to the demands, Mayor announced the decision to cancel the transfer process of the controversial 12 layouts and scrutinise all other transfers.

Tiff between Corporators

When Ward 59 Corporator Sunanda Palanetra questioned the veracity of the alleged dubious transfer of 12 layouts from MUDA, Corporator SBM Manju, who is also a MUDA Member, attempted to clarify apparently trying to defend MUDA.

Irked by that, former Mayor Arif Hussain asked Manju to speak on behalf of MCC and not MUDA. That triggered a row between the two. Sunanda insisted on the Mayor to answer the queries.

Irwin Road widening from Govt. Ayurveda Hospital Circle to Kalamma Temple

MCC Council gives nod for tender process

Mysuru, Aug.28 (SBD&KS)- The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Council meeting, chaired by Mayor Pushpalatha Jagganath, yesterday gave its nod to call for tender for the widening and development of Irwin Road from Government Ayurveda Hospital Circle to Kalamma Temple at a cost of Rs.2.32 crore.

Earlier, Corporator Satish, who spoke, said that the works pertaining to demolition of buildings were going on since eight months and questioned, if just one building is demolished per day, when will the works be completed. It was said that the works would be completed before Dasara, but looking at the pace the works are going on, there is no hope that the works would be completed in time, regretted many Corporators.

Replying to this, MCC Officials said that the works pertaining to widening of Irwin Road by 18 mts, four-laning of the road, drains on either side, laying of new UGD pipeline, installation of road dividers, and other developmental works were going on for which 84 buildings have to be demolished and added that 52 buildings that are to be demolished are pending. They further said that the demolition works are being carried out in phases along with payment of the compensation amount to the owners. As owners of a few properties including Anjaneyaswamy Temple and a Mosque have moved Court, the works are being delayed, the MCC Officials added.

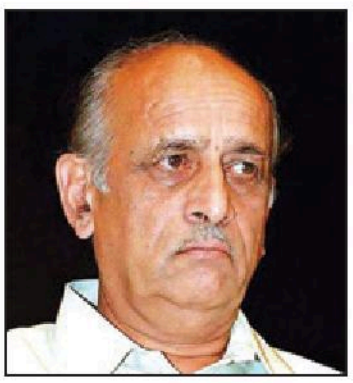
Former Mayor Ayub Khan, who spoke, said that there are two properties belonging to the Wakf Board and they have asked for a building instead of compensation amount. Replying to it, Arif Hussain said that there is no provision to sell properties of Wakf Board. If they are provided with an alternate building, they would not object for the demolition, he added. He suggested the Mayor and MCC Commissioner to meet MLA Tanveer Sait, who is also the Member of the Wakf Board and solve the issue.

Replying to Arif Hussain, MCC Commissioner Gurudatta Hegde said that efforts would be taken to identify an alternate building and assured to solve all problems related to the widening and development of Irwin Road in a week with the co-operation of the DC.

Speaking on the occasion, Corporator Shivakumar asked the MCC Officials not to develop the road in the old way but develop it by increasing the heritage beauty of the city. He asked the officials to construct cable ducts on the side of the road so that cables could be laid there without digging the roads in future and added that modern smart poles be installed and also water absorbing road be laid.

It may be recalled that though the widening proposal was conceived in 2015, only a portion of the stretch — Railway Station to Ayurveda College Circle — has been widened. The MCC has fixed compensation at Rs.13,072 per sqft, excluding the value of the building. For this, Rs.37 crore has been earmarked. Rs.25 crore has already been disbursed as compensation for building owners.

Firebrand politician A.K. Subbaiah



A.K. Subbaiah

Bengaluru, Aug.28- Known as a firebrand politician, A.K. Subbaiah was born on Aug.9, 1934 to Ajjikuttira Kariappa and Chinnamma couple at Konangeri village in Hudikeri of Virajpet taluk. Having lost his parents at a very young age, he was brought up by his maternal uncle. He was known for his firebrand attitude since his young age and once he had to face the ire of few officials for questioning with regard to alleged harassment to farmers at the Revenue Department office in Srimangala.

Subbaiah started his career as a teacher at one of the schools in Gejjehanagodi in Somwarpet taluk and later worked as a Second Division Assistant in Health Department. After graduating in Law from Sarada Vilas College in Mysuru during 1963, he started his practise as an Advocate in Virajpet along with involving himself in politics. Earlier, during 1959 elections, he had campaigned for 'Praja Socialist Party' candidate in Virajpet. He was elected as an MLC in 1966 from Jansangh. Later, he served as an MLC for four terms.

Subbaiah, who was known for his social activism, had raised his voice against Jamma Bane issue, Madhav Gadgil Report and UNESCO projects which could harm Kodagu. After having joined Jansangh, Subbaiah also served the BJP as its first State President in 1982. He was close to Atal Bihari Vajapayee who had visited Subbaiah at his residence in Virajpet. At the time when Subbaiah led the BJP in the State, a total of 18 MLAs including the current CM B.S. Yediyurappa and late V.S. Archarya had entered the Legislative Assembly for the first time. He not only took on the then Gundu Rao-led Government for alleged corruption but also made sure the then Minister C.M. Ibrahim resigned for his alleged role in the Rolex watch scandal.

After being expelled from the BJP for some reasons, A.K. Subbaiah took on the RSS and BJP protesting against its ideologies. A reputed votary with substance with every work he spoke, Subbaiah had unsuccessfully formed his own party 'Kannada Naadu' after the 1984 elections. Later, he joined Congress, BSP and the JD(S), before fading away in the State politics. He was also jailed for 19 months during the Emergency. Subbaiah was also targeted by few groups for supporting Tipu Jayanti announced by the Siddharamaiah-led Government.

A.K. Subbaiah, who was suffering from kidney ailments, was admitted to the Manipal Hospital where he was being treated. Though there were signs of recovery, he suddenly slipped into coma on Monday, it is said.

The mortal remains of A.K. Subbaiah was kept at his R.T. Nagar residence in Bengaluru for public-viewing before being shifted to his native in Kodagu.

He leaves behind five sons including former Additional Advocate General A.S. Ponnanna. Former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda, former Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and others have condoled Subbaiah's demise.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka tells how to ensure that a pet's newborn litter finds a good home

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

My pet dog just had puppies. When can I put them up for adoption?

Ideally you should wait a week or two after the puppies have weaned from their mothers before putting them up for adoption. Generally dogs wean from their mothers in six weeks, so they can be put up for adoption when they are seven or eight weeks old. Some breeds wean from their mothers at 10-12 weeks. So, ensure that whichever breed you adopt or buy, the puppy has had the necessary time with his/ her mother. If you separate the puppies before they wean they can develop behavioural and socialisation problems, as well as health problems. Make sure they are already eating solid food on their own before putting your puppies up for adoption.

How do I ensure that my pet's newborn litter finds a good home?

To find a good home for your litter, spread the word that you are putting them up for adoption well in advance. You can even contact rescue groups, or animal shelters, to help you find some potential adopters. When you have someone eager to adopt, you should properly screen the person and take an interview to ensure that the baby will go into a loving and caring household.

Once you have found someone whom you think would be a good and responsible animal owner, invite the person to come spend time with the litter on a regular basis to get them familiarised. Also, explain any details about taking care of the animal, any precautions or things to prepare, in advance. Also, work out details like who will get the litter sprayed and neutered and other details in advance.

After the litter goes to its new homes keep in touch with the new owners for a while to ensure that they do not have second thoughts about adopting a pet, or face other problems. If possible do a home check to confirm that they have got all the necessary items ready to welcome their new family members.

How to make the separation and sending of the newborn animals to their new home less stressful?

Separating the newborn litter from its mother, and sending it to a completely new environment, can be very stressful for your pet. To reduce the stress you can allow the new owners to come and spend time with the litter before sending them to the new house. This way the newborn animals can familiarise themselves with them so that they are less scared.

Never let a newborn animal be sent away before completely weaning off, and learning the basic socialisation and behavioural skills, from his/ her mother and siblings.

If you are going to send the litter for adoption it would be better to not get too close with the animals, to reduce separation anxiety and stress. As owners of the adopted animals, let the animal familiarise themselves with the surroundings and let them come to you. Don't force yourself on the animals as this can make them more stressed and frightened.

People say that puppies should not be bathed until they are three months. Why?

You should only bathe puppies that are older than 12 weeks. Until they are old enough you might have to settle cleaning your puppy with a sponge bath. Before your dog is 12 weeks old the less water the better.

How often should I clean my dog's ears and with what?

The regularity with which you clean your dog's ears depends on your pet's breed, coat, level of activity, age, and ear wax production. We recommend that most dogs with normal ears have cleanings at least once a month. Also, keep looking for any secretions, or developing wax, from time to time. Use a ear cleaning solution to wipe the ear.

When I go to my friend's house I am always very anxious about her dog. The dog seems very friendly to all but when she looks at me, she seems hostile. Is there anything I can do?

Stop being anxious. If you regularly feel anxious, you might be the perfect candidate for a dog bite. According to a study published in the Journal of Epidemiology and Community Health, dog bites are three times more in anxious people.

Questionnaires given to 700 people, who had been bitten by dogs, to elaborate on one biting incident, provide information on how old they were at the time of the bite, and their relationship to the dog. Adult respondents also filled out a 10-item personality test, which helped researchers categorise the participants according to the so-called Big Five personality traits (extroversion, conscientiousness, openness to new experiences, agreeableness and emotional stability).

Men were nearly twice as likely as women to have been bitten in their lifetimes. About 44 percent of bites occurred in childhood (when participants were younger than 16 years old), and 55 percent of bites were inflicted by dogs that the victim had never met before the incident. Most surprising, though, was an apparent link between dog bites and respondents who scored lowest for emotional stability on the personality test. The more emotionally unstable a person was, the more likely they were to have been bitten by a dog. Findings suggest that the less anxious, irritable and depressed a person is, the less likely they are to have been bitten.

I have to leave home for a couple of months for work purposes. Is there any service or organisation which can look after my dog during this period?

Sometimes situations arise when you need to leave your pet alone for a long period of time. In such a situation it is best to ask a close friend, relative or colleague to board your pet for the duration. If this is not possible you can try to get a professional pet sitter or pet lodging service. Though such services are not as commonly available in India and may only be available in major towns and cities, you can try websites like https://www.petbacker.com/d/india or https://www.waggle.in to find a family to take in your pet for a while. Before sending your pet away meet up with the family or person who has agreed to look after your pet, and check if the home is ideal for your pet. Keep tabs about your pet's well-being even when you are away.

I am relocating to a different country. Can I take my pet with me?

Yes. Most countries allow for you to bring along your pet. However, you will have to contact the country's Consulate, or any animal rights organisation in that country, to help you find out the legal procedure about bringing your pet with you. You will also have to prepare all the necessary paperwork and medical history from a reputed authorised organisation. You may also be required to have a microchip or RFID placed in your pet. Organisations like Petsfly can also help you relocate your pet in a more comfortable and convenient manner.

How important are animals for a human's mental stability?

Animals have been recognised to have therapeutic effects on people suffering from anxiety or depression. Animal-assisted therapy programmes have become an important part of mental health treatment. Interacting with friendly animals secretes serotonin and dopamine in humans, and calms their nervous system. Canine and Equine-Assisted Therapy has proven to be an effective tool for combating mental illness.

Abrogation of Article 370

SC issues notice to Centre

Constitution Bench to hear the petitions in October

New Delhi, Aug.28- The Supreme Court (SC) Bench, headed by Chief Justice of India (CJI) Ranjan Gogoi, issued notice to the Central Government on the plea filed by a batch of petitioners on abrogation of Article 370 and Article 35 (A) in Jammu and Kashmir and said that the matter will be heard by a five-Judge Constitution Bench in the first week of October.

The Apex Court has also sought a detailed report within a week on the petition filed by Kashmir Times Executive Editor Anuradha Bhasin, which has sought relaxation of alleged restrictions imposed on journalists following the scrapping for special status to Jammu and Kashmir.

The Supreme Court also said that a five-Judge Constitution Bench will hear the petitions related to the abrogation of Articles 370 and 35(A) in Jammu and Kashmir in the first week of October.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta and Attorney General K.K. Venugopal argued against the issuing of notice to the Central Government saying that the case was sensitive and the notice by the Apex Court would have international "repercussions." The Court, meanwhile, refused a request to appoint an interlocutor for Jammu & Kashmir.

In other related orders, the Supreme Court Bench, comprising Justices S.A. Bobde and S.Abdul Nazeer, allowed CPM leader Sitaram Yechury to visit J&K to meet his party leader and former MLA Yousuf Tarigami.

It may be recalled that the PM Narendra Modi-led NDA Government on Aug.5 had scrapped Article 370 and Article 35 (A) at J&K and bifurcated the State into two Union Territories — J&K and Ladakh.

They put out FIRE even as their own houses are on

By N. Niranjan Nikam

Inside view of the entrance to Fire Station and its courtyard in Saraswathipuram.

They are on high alert 24X7 responding to the calls in seconds and minutes rushing to the spot, trying to put out fire, saving lives, recovering properties all the while putting their lives at stake. But just peep into the lives of these honest, dedicated, determined firemen and the heart of the people with conscience bleeds. One starts wondering how they can live in such sub and inhuman conditions.

These and other questions cropped up when Star of Mysore visited the Saraswathipuram Fire Station and did a reality check of the living conditions of the many firemen who live in dread and fear in the crumbling Quarters they are housed in. As one enters the 121-year-old Fire Brigade to go to the Fire Station Officer's chamber, one has to pass through the rest room provided to firemen and what immediately one can see is the complete lack of privacy for them.

The young Fire Station Officer Nagaraj Urs, 32, said that the Control Room was shifted recently following the collapse of the portico. The telephones were ringing even as we entered and suddenly an emergency call came. Urs immediately forgot my presence and rushed to the place where a youth had fallen down the lift.

Another young fireman then took this reporter around and that is when the reality of the conditions that the firemen live in struck hard. The tiled Quarters, all over a century old, were in real pitiable conditions. Doors of many houses were broken; weeds and plants had grown on them.

HORRIBLE CONDITIONS

Entering the house which is unfit for occupation, I could see how in spite of the country moving forward in many areas, we have remained backward or shown complete lack of concern for the people's lives. Right next door there were firemen's families occupying the houses, as they had no choice.

"Since we are on emergency call 24 hours a day, we prefer to live in the campus as we can respond to the calls immediately. This place has no water facility, no proper kitchen nor other basic amenities. There are times when we have to go to the nearby park to fill water from a public tap. Since there is no proper electricity connection we have to heat water on gas stoves or use firewood to have bath. The women in the house are put to extreme hardships because of such harsh conditions," said a fireman speaking on condition of anonymity. There are 12 families living on the campus and in a few other Quarters, the firemen who come for refresher course training stay. Some of them have put in years of service but even they are forced to stay here where there is not even a minimum facility of a bathroom.

THEY BATHE IN THE OPEN

This was evening when I went around the place and I was shocked to see these firemen having bath in the open. And where do they draw the water from, it is from the fire brigade van.

Asked how they could be having bath in the open in such cold conditions, one of them who was lathering his body said, "Do we have a choice? We have to make do with whatever facilities provided to us."

A view of the portion of the Quarters that is occupied by the Firemen families.

They are all put up in houses, four-to-a-room and just with barest of facilities and hardly any ventilation and toilets which are as old as the history of the building.

PROBLEMS TO THE FOREFRONT

The plight of the firemen would have continued if the portico of the Fire Station had not collapsed on Aug.9, 2019. Till then everyone was taking shelter under the portico from rain and shine little realising what the conditions were just a few feet inside.

Even on that day, the people's representatives and the officials rushed to the spot, saw the damages and after the photo-op and empty promises left the place without even as a backward glance.

"We had written to the PWD and the Directorate of Archaeology, Museums and Heritage in 2015 itself explaining to them about the conditions of the building and how unsafe it was. But our plea fell on deaf ears. It is only after the portico collapsed were they forced to visit the place," said the source. Meanwhile, Fire Station Officer Urs returned from his rescue operation and narrated how they rescued the youth who had fallen down the lift. "Our duty is to first rescue the person and if he is injured rush him to the hospital and only then ask questions," he said.

Then pointing to the wall near the portico, he said, "The day a portion of portico collapsed, the wall here developed a crack and we had marked it. But within a few days the crack has lengthened and there is always a chance that the remaining portion could come crashing down any moment."

File photos of Fire personnel dousing fire atop Chamundi Hill in Mysuru and engaged in rescue operation at flood-hit Kodagu recently.

NEW FIRE STATIONS HAVE MODERN FACILITIES

The trouble is this is a heritage building and hence everyone is scared to touch it. That is how it has been neglected all these years. However, the other new Fire Stations in Hebbal, Bannimantap and RBI Quarters have all modern facilities, he said.

Not only the living conditions but even the working conditions for the firemen here are very harsh. They hardly get their weekly offs. "We have to work on all days of the week and rarely are we allowed the luxury of a weekly off. It is now raining and hence there will always be emergencies. So our weekly offs are cancelled," he said even as he politely refused leave for a fireman.

"It is now the rainy season, then Dasara celebrations; again we are deprived of the weekly off. This is followed by Deepavali festival and that is the time when we have to attend to maximum fire mishaps and there goes our weekly off again. Then summer arrives which again could result in lot of fires. In short, our firemen are on the move throughout the year," said another source.

"We sometimes feel why I joined this profession which is so unkind to us. But when we go to douse the fire, save lives, recover properties and receive the blessings of the people, then we forget all the frustrations," said the fireman with a beatific smile, masking his pain. Will the authorities concerned wake up at least now and take decisions or will they continue to ignore the plight of the hard-working firemen? Because a PWD official who visited the spot sometime back is learnt to have told the firemen living in the Quarters, all they needed were a few alterations — forgetting that these are the people who stake their lives even as they douse the fire while their own houses are on fire.

The broken doors of the unoccupied Quarters of Fire personnel.

An unoccupied house in pitiable condition.

Neglect of clearing debris continues

Even though minutes after the portico collapsed, MLA S. A. Ramdas and L. Nagendra visited the place, and later Ministers V. Somanna and R. Ashoka also came and inspected and directed the officials concerned to clear the debris, nothing has happened even after nearly 20 days.

It is not only the portico that has collapsed but even the other portion is very weak and likely to fall down any time. Hence, the Fire Station Security staff is keeping a watch on it in shifts.

As the Fire Station is classified as a heritage structure, it is taking a long time to clear the debris. Even though the Fire Station, MCC, PWD and Heritage Department Officers have urged the authorities concerned, the process of clearing the debris has not started. There is no clarity on steps regarding the weakened portico, as no one knows whether it should be demolished and built in the original style.

Another major reason for the delay is the lack of coordination between the MCC, PWD and Heritage Departments as each one is putting the blame on the other giving excuses. While the MCC is keeping mum as though it has nothing to do with it, the Heritage Department officials say that since it is a heritage structure, only after they submit a report should any action be taken.

Meanwhile, the officials from the PWD and the Heritage Departments inspected the Saraswathipuram Fire Station recently following a report in Mysooru Mithra, the sister publication of Star of Mysore and looked into the problems faced by the firemen.

Speaking to SOM in this regard, District Fire Officer Raju said that the said officials had visited the spot and inspected the Quarters which are on the verge of collapse. They have submitted a report to the Deputy Commissioner stating that it would be appropriate to vacate the Quarters at the earliest.

80,000 flower pots ready for Dasara Flower Show

- Flower Show from Sept.29 to Oct.13 at Kuppanna Park
- More than 40 varieties of flowers on display
- This year the flower show is for 15 days
- Flower Show in memory of Sri Jayachamaraja Wadiyar

Mysuru, Aug.28 (MTY&NNN)- In the light of Dasara festival, the Dasara Flower Show will be held for 15-day at Kuppanna Park in Nazarbad from Sept.29 to Oct.13. This year more than 40 varieties of flowers with an array of colours and flowering plants will be a treat to the eyes.

Already, more than 80,000 plants including the hybrid varieties have been grown in the flower pots in various nurseries. Just like people throng for watching Jumboo Savari, Dasara Exhibition, Food Mela and other cultural programmes, Dasara Flower Show has also become one of the biggest attractions.

There is a very good response from the tourists and locals for the flower show and it is growing by the year. Every year a theme is chosen and the flowers are used to depict it. The Horticulture Department is gearing up to make this year's flower show more attractive.

80,000 Flower Pots: During the nine-day festival, all along the walking path, more than 80,000 flower pots with different varieties of flowers will be lined up. The flowers are being nurtured to see that they flower just as the Dasara commences.

The flowers in the pots are being grown at the nurseries in Kuppanna Park, Government Guest House, Curzon Park, Gordon Park and the Horticulture Department in Exhibition. The flowers are being preserved by using manure and watering the plants.

Horticulture Department Senior Assistant Director Habiba Nishad speaking to Star of Mysore said that more than 80,000 flowers required for the flower show is being grown in five centres.

There are more than 40 varieties that include French Marigold, Dianthera, Verbena, Begonia, Dahlia, Firebush, Ornamental Kale, Zinnia, Vinca, Salvia, Marigold, Sweet William, Celosia, which are being grown.

Even as these varieties are being grown, exotic species like Lilies, Curcuma, Kalanchoe and other varieties are being bought. Seeds of those plants which flower after 150 days have been sown from April and May itself. This apart, those plants which flower in 80 days, 60 days, 50 days and 30 days have already been grown and by the time the flower show begins all these flowers will be in full bloom, she said.

Since this is the birth centenary year of Sri Jayachamaraja Wadiyar, it has been decided to dedicate this year's flower show to the last Ruler of Mysuru. In the earlier flower shows, a few of the places were lying vacant in Kuppanna Park. This year, 60 per cent of the park will be landscaped and a permanent children's park is also being established. The playing equipment for them is also being installed at the park.

On the directions of District Incharge Minister V. Somanna, the flower show is being held for 15 days, while last year it was for 12 days. To maintain the freshness of the flowers it will be changed twice, said Habiba Nishad.

The Horticulture Department officials will decide upon the theme this year very shortly. But it is for sure that the Glass House will be teeming with flowers, she said.

Karnataka Premier League 2019

Bulls end losing streak in dead rubber

Mysuru, Aug.28- Bijapur Bulls horrid run in the eighth edition of Karnataka Premier League (KPL) ended on a day their campaign came to a close as they defeated the higher-ranked Shivamogga Lions by 17 runs at the SDNR Wadiyar Stadium here yesterday.

The win ensured that the Bulls, with five points from six games, went past Bengaluru Blasters to sixth on the seven-team points table. For that small mercy, the Bulls have Rajoo Bhatkal (66) and M.G. Naveen (68) to thank as the duo completed fine half-centuries to take the side to 195 for 4 in 20 overs.

The Lions, in response, rode on an Arjun Hoysala blitz to give the crowd hopes of another big chase. They had, after all, only on Monday seen the Mysuru Warriors chase down 241 runs. But once Hoysala fell for 69 from 39 balls and M. Nidhish (45 not out) ran out of partners, they settled for 178 for 5 in 20 overs.

Though this game was an inconsequential one since the Lions had already qualified for the playoffs post with Hubli Tigers' win earlier in the day, it was one that would decide the final positions on the points table. And since the Eliminator has been introduced this season, it was crucial for the Lions to win and well.

At the end of the league stage, the Tuskers finished on top of the table with eight points and Belagavi Panthers ended second with seven points. Shivamogga Lions and the Tigers finished with six points each. The Lions, however, finished third by virtue of their win over the Tigers in the Bengaluru-leg of the tournament.

In today's Qualifier 1, the Tuskers will take on Panthers at 7 pm, and the Lions will face the Tigers in the Eliminator on Aug.29.

In the earlier match, R. Vinay Kumar and Mohammad Taha demolished Bengaluru Blasters to take Hubli Tigers to the playoffs of this year's KPL.

Tigers, fifth on the table with four points before this contest, needed to win with a good net run-rate to upstage Mysuru Warriors for a spot in the final four.

Vinay and Taha delivered on both counts, smashing an unbeaten 81 and 48 respectively in a 105-run second-wicket stand to guide the Tigers to 164 for 3 in 17.4 overs in response to Blasters' 158 for 9 in 20 overs.

BRIEF SCORES

Bijapur Bulls: 195 for 4 in 20 overs (Rajoo Bhatkal 66, M.G. Naveen 68, Suneel Raju 36; Rishabh Singh 2-21) beat Shivamogga Lions: 178 for 5 in 20 overs (Arjun Hoysala 69, M. Nidhish 45 not out; K.C. Cariappa 2-27).

WORD OF THE DAY

Chivy

Pronunciation: CHIV-ee.
Meaning: To tease or annoy with persistent petty attacks; to move or obtain by small maneuvers.
Origin: Chivy, which is also spelled chivvy, became established in our language in the 19th century and, at first, meant "to harass or chase." Early usage examples are of people chivying a chicken around to catch it and of a person chivying around food that is frying. The verb comes from a British noun chivy meaning "chase" or "hunt." That chivy is believed to be derived from Chevy Chase—a term for "chase" or "confusion" that is taken from the name of a ballad describing the 1388 battle of Otterburn between the Scottish and English. (A chase in this context is an unenclosed tract of land that is used as a game preserve.).
Example: "To encounter Hemingway as an adult was to be faced with a man whose appetite for supposedly masculine pursuits was so assiduously cultivated as to border on parody.... He would routinely chivy his friends into the ring in order to engage in tests of strength." — Matthew Adams, The Washington Post.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Cold shoulder

Meaning: A display of coldness or indifference, intended to wound.
Origin: The origin of this expression which is often repeated is that visitors to a house who were welcome were given a hot meal but those who weren't were offered only 'cold shoulder of mutton'. This is repeated in several etymological texts, including Hendrickson's usually reliable 'Encyclopedia of Word and Phrase Origins'. There's no evidence to support this view though and it appears to be an example of folk etymology.

The first reference to the phrase in print is in Sir Walter Scott's 'The Antiquary', 1816: "The Countess's dislike didna gang farther at first than just showing o' the cauld shouther". 'Cauld' is Scottish dialect for 'cold'. Should you doubt that 'shouther' means 'shoulder', Scott goes on the use the word in other contexts which make the meaning clear; for example, "They were stout hearts the race of Glenallan, ... they stood shouther to shouther".
Note that the shoulder is shown, not eaten - there's no reference to food here. Likewise, in a slightly later work of Scott's - St. Ronan's Well, 1824: "I must tip him the cold shoulder, or he will be pestering me eternally."
